Why Counseling Matters in Recovery

Medication alone isn't enough. That's why we emphasize counseling as a core part of our treatment model:

- Explore the root causes of substance use

- Build healthy coping skills and relapse prevention strategies

- Strengthen relationships with family, work, and community

- Support emotional healing and personal growth

Together, counseling and MAT provide the stability and insight needed for long-term success.

Convenient, Community-Based Care in Pennington Gap

Our Pennington Gap location offers local outpatient treatment, eliminating the need for travel or overnight stays. Whether you're just starting recovery or re-engaging after a setback, we're here with:

- Appointments that fit your schedule

- Support that respects your privacy and dignity

- A nonjudgmental space where healing begins

Understanding the Role of Suboxone in Treatment

Suboxone®, a combination of buprenorphine and naloxone, is one of the most widely used medications in our MAT program. It helps:

- Reduce opioid cravings and withdrawal symptoms

- Stabilize recovery and prevent relapse

- Lower the risk of overdose during early recovery

When paired with counseling and community support, Suboxone becomes a powerful tool in reclaiming health and independence.
